Environmental Conservation and Sustainability majors learn to understand the complexity of social-ecological systems and meet environmental challenges. They are grounded in ecological principles and comprehend the connections between natural resource and social systems. They integrate scientific information with human ethics and have the theoretical, methodological, technical and practical skills necessary to solve complex problems.

Student Involvement
- Student Environment Action Coalition
- EcoQuest Study Abroad
- Organic Garden Club
- Slow Food UNH
- Environmental and Water Resources Institute

Internships and Research
- Shoals Marine Lab
- Student Conservation Association
- NH Department of Environmental Services
- Center for Social Innovation and Enterprise
- Sustainability Institute

Employment Areas
- Park and Preservation Management
- Sustainability Management
- Land Use
- Natural Resources Management: Land, Soil, Water, Wildlife
- Environmental Education and Outreach
- Environmental Advocacy and Regulatory Affairs
- Environmental Consulting

Job Title Examples
- Biological or Field Technician
- Environmental Lab Technician
- QC Associate
- Water Conservation Specialist
- Conservation/Environmental Educator
- Environmental or Associate Biologist
- Fish and Wildlife Technician

Where Alumni Are Working
- Triumvirate Environmental
- NH Department of Environmental Services
- US Forest Service
- The Nature Conservancy
- NH Fish and Game
- Lonza Biologics
- National Park Service
- Normandeau Associates

Further Education
- University of California, Santa Barbara
- University of New England