Xi Sigma Pi: National Forestry Honor Society
Membership Application

Please email your response to the current XSP president

Xi Sigma Pi is a national honor society that celebrates scholastic achievement and a connection to the natural world we are all surrounded by. At UNH, this organization is composed of male and female undergraduate and graduate students within the Department of Natural Resources. Xi Sigma Pi seeks to engage like-minded students of scholastic excellence in events and community service activities that cater to their love of the natural world, and will help them both professionally and personally.

If you wish to become a member of Xi Sigma Pi, please write a one page, single-spaced response to one of the following prompts…

1. Describe your career aspirations and how you think Xi Sigma Pi membership can help you achieve those goals.

   OR…

2. Describe your connection to nature and how it has shaped your current path of academic study.

Further information about Xi Sigma Pi or questions can be directed to the UNH NREN Department office, who will be able to provide you with the current XSP officer emails.
